Research Experience

Fall 2021 Independent Research, "International Organizations", Indiana University
Advisors: Dr. Ore Koren and Dr. William Kindred Winecoff
Conducted independent research on international organizations and global cooperation, contributing directly to my teaching in international organization and global governance.

2020–2021 Graduate Research Assistant, Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies, Indiana University
Produced literature reviews and research memos on Taiwan's foreign relations, the U.S.–Japan alliance and Taiwan, Japan–Taiwan relations (including a proposed Japan–Taiwan Relations Act and bilateral economic agreements), Korea–Taiwan relations, and PRC and ROC government responses to U.S.–Japan joint statements on Taiwan. Synthesized English-, Chinese-, and Japanese-language sources, including CNKI scholarship.

Fall 2020 Research Rotation, "Exponential Random Graph Models (ERGMs)", Indiana University
Advisor: Dr. Staša Milojević
Received advanced training in network modeling and quantitative research methods, informing my teaching in research design and data analysis.

Fall 2019 Research Rotation, "Complex Network and International Negotiation", Indiana University
Advisor: Dr. William Kindred Winecoff
Examined international negotiation through network analysis, supporting my teaching in international relations and political methodology.

Sum. 2019 Political Networks Workshop, Duke University
Completed intensive training in social network analysis, including visualization, community detection, latent space models, and ERGMs, strengthening my ability to teach network analysis and quantitative methods.
