Education

- July 2026* Ph.D., Political Science and Informatics (Complex Networks and Systems), Indiana University Bloomington
 Dissertation: The Weak Shall Govern: How Soft-Law Intergovernmental Organizations (IGOs) Sustain Their Relevance
- 2010 M.A., Political Science, National Taiwan University
 Thesis: A Gender Perspective on Environmental Security—A Case Study of The Kyoto Protocol
- 2006 B.A., Political Science, Chinese Culture University

Research Interests

International Relations, Global Governance, International Political Economy, Computational Social Science

Methodology: multimodal data processing, social network analysis, temporal network modeling, bipartite, multilayer, and hypergraph network analysis, computational text analysis, LLM interpretability

Substantive: informal international organizations, strategic alignment, institutional design, U.S. grand strategy, global order resilience, Asia-Pacific politics

Demonstrations & Tutorials

- D1. Wang, Jeffery S.-C. Accelerator Crash Course: R. Center of Excellence for Women & Technology, Indiana University Bloomington. Apr. 2026.

Research Experience

- Fall 2021 Independent Research, “International Organizations”, Indiana University
Advisors: Dr. Ore Koren and Dr. William Kindred Winecoff
Conducted independent research on international organizations and global cooperation, contributing directly to my teaching in international organization and global governance.
- 2020–2021 Graduate Research Assistant, Hamilton Lugar School, Indiana University
Gathered literature and wrote research memos on Taiwan’s foreign relations, strengthening my ability to teach international politics, East Asia, and foreign policy analysis.
- Fall 2020 Research Rotation, “Exponential Random Graph Models (ERGMs)”, Indiana University
Advisor: Dr. Staša Milojević
Received advanced training in network modeling and quantitative research methods, informing my teaching in research design and data analysis.
- Fall 2019 Research Rotation, “Complex Network and International Negotiation”, Indiana University
Advisor: Dr. William Kindred Winecoff
Examined international negotiation through network analysis, supporting my teaching in international relations and political methodology.
- Sum. 2019 Political Networks Workshop, Duke University
Completed intensive training in social network analysis, including visualization, community detection, latent space models, and ERGMs, strengthening my ability to teach network analysis and quantitative methods.

Teaching

Indiana University Bloomington

Instructor of Record

Fall 2025 Data Fluency (INFO–I123)

- Introductory course. Syllabus & Course Evaluation
- Topics: Research design, data-driven reasoning, data structures, machine learning, generative AI, network analysis, data storytelling, and analytical literacy using tools such as Excel, R, Tableau, visualization techniques
- Activities: TopHat real-time activities, group discussion, weekly topic explorations, one-one office hours, student project advising
- Management: Manage three graduate associate instructors (one PhD students and two master students)

Sum. 2023 Politics of Global Governance (POLS–Y346)

- Advance undergraduate course. Syllabus & Course Evaluation
- Topics: international organizations, non-governmental organizations, public-private partnerships, institutional design, principal-agent theory, governance networks, transnational advocacy networks, rankings and indicators, and global health governance
- Activities: weekly reading quizzes, structured analytical writing, synchronous and asynchronous online learning, and a policy paper project connecting course concepts to a real-world op-ed through evidence-based policy analysis

Guest Lecturer

Spr. 2026 Accelerator Crash Course Series: R

- IU Center of Excellence for Women & Technology
- Topics: R, RStudio, the tidyverse, data import, data manipulation, analysis, visualization, and the use of generative AI for coding, troubleshooting, and discovering analytical methods
- Teaching Material

Fall 2022 Network-based Research: State Cooperation (INFO–I123)

- Introducing network-based research on interstate cooperation through the example of International Organization
- Topics: research design, theoretical constructs and operationalization, network data construction, co-sponsorship networks, indegree and outdegree, weighted centrality, reciprocity, transitivity, homophily, and receiver effects
- Student Training: interpreting adjacency matrices and network graphs, linking substantive questions to measurable network properties, and developing hypotheses from observed cooperation patterns

- Spr. 2022 Economic Crisis and Intervention (POLS–Y346)
- Lecture on the international political economy of financial crises, interventions, and contagion from the late nineteenth century to the post-2008 period
 - Topics: the Great Depression, Bretton Woods, 1997 Asian financial crisis, 1998 Russian crisis, 2008 global financial crisis, IMF intervention, leverage, contagion, global trade contraction, and political consequences of economic crises
 - Student Training: historical comparison, causal reasoning, interpretation of economic and political trends, and application of international organization perspectives to crisis management and global governance

Associate Instructor

- 2022–2025 INFO–I123: Data Fluency (Fall 2022, 2023, 2024; Spring 2025)
- Instructor: Dr. Samantha Wood
 - Facilitated classroom instruction and hands-on activities; advised students on software tools, programming, and data analysis; designed grading rubrics and evaluated assignments and exams
 - Held office hours to mentor students on coursework, technical skills, and future academic and career pathways in data science and related fields
- Spr. 2024 POLS–Y205: Analyzing Politics
- Instructor: Dr. Nicolas Bichay
 - Facilitated class activities and discussion sections; graded homework assignments, and exams; advised students on research design, hypothesis development, and scientific inference
 - Topics: philosophy of science, research design, concept formation and measurement, descriptive statistics, experiments and observational research, probability, polling and sampling, statistical inference, regression, qualitative methods, and research ethics
- Spr. 2023 INFO–I101: Introduction to Informatics
- Instructor: Dr. Chase McCoy
 - Led discussion sections, graded assignments, and supported students in project development and technical problem-solving; supervised undergraduate teaching assistants
 - Topics: programming, computing ethics, human-computer interaction and design, accessibility, security and privacy, data science, AI and machine learning, data visualization, robotics and virtual reality, and the Internet of Things
- Spr. 2022 POLS–Y364: International Organization
- Instructor: Dr. Ore Koren
 - Delivered guest lectures and assisted with grading assignments and exams
 - Topics: the historical development of international organization, rational and constructivist origins of cooperation, sovereignty, democracy and peace, humanitarian intervention, nuclear nonproliferation, natural resources and civil war, food security, terrorism and counterterrorism, economic crisis and intervention, globalization and cyberspace, human rights monitoring, environmental policy and climate change, migration, and globalization and domestic politics

Other Teaching Experiences

Formal Teaching Appointments

- 2010–2011 Lecturer, Political Science, Kaochuan Educational Institute, Taichung, Taiwan
- Taught a comprehensive political science course
 - Topics: origins, development, and research approaches of political science; nation and state; regimes and political parties; government institutions; democratic theory; political systems, culture, socialization, communication, and public opinion; elections and electoral systems; legitimacy and political crisis; political economy; authoritarianism; international politics; political development and human rights; and globalization
- 2008–2009 Adjunct Teacher, Social Studies, Junior High Division, Sanmin High School, Luzhou District, New Taipei City, Taiwan
- Junior high social studies with a focus on civics and citizenship education
 - Topics: democracy and the modern state, central and local government, political parties and interest groups, political participation and elections, government economic functions, and democratic citizenship
 - Used written assessments, classroom discussion, oral evaluation, reading reports, and student research activities
- 2006–2008 Adjunct Teacher, Introduction to Social Sciences, Continuing Education Division, Yingge Vocational High School, New Taipei City, Taiwan
- Taught introductory social science courses for continuing education students
 - Topics: social science foundations and research, political science, human rights, globalization, culture and socialization, and ethnicity and gender
 - Used film discussion, reflective writing, and small-group debate

Tutoring and Mentoring

- 2001–2014 Tutor and Mentor in English Learning
- Taught English through one-on-one instruction and small-group tutoring in home-based settings, after-school institutes, and secondary school classrooms in Taoyuan, Taiwan
 - Worked with students from both urban and rural backgrounds
 - Mentored 100+ students across diverse ages and levels, including school application advising

Awards & Honors

- 2025–2026 Taiwanese Overseas Pioneers PhD Dissertation Grants, TNSTC ($30,000)
- 2018–2022 Taiwanese Government Fellowship for Overseas Ph.D. Study ($188,000)
- 2024 Gillespie Memorial Fund Fellowship, Indiana University ($1,000)
- 2024 Wendell Willkie Political Science Fellowship, Indiana University ($700)
- 2023 Christopher B. Siegrist Graduate Fellowship, Indiana University ($1,000)
- 2019–2026 Additional Indiana University fellowships and Conference travel awards from such as PolNet and NATSA (multiple awards; approx. $10,000+ total)

Teaching Interest

Substantive Courses

International Relations & IPE
International Relations
International Political Economy
International Organizations
Global Governance
International Conflict
Strategic Studies
Global Political Economy
War and Armed Conflict

Regional Studies
East Asian Politics
International Relations of East Asia
Politics of Southeast Asia
U.S.-China-Taiwan Relations
U.S. Foreign and Security Policy
Asia-Pacific International Relations

Comparative & American Politics
Comparative Politics
American Government
American Institutions and Ideas

Methods Courses

Research Methods in Political Science
Research Design in International Relations
R for Political Data Analysis
Data Science for Political Inquiry
Social Network Analysis
AI-Assisted Research Design
Computational Social Science
Quantitative Methods for IR

Professional Courses

Policy Analysis
Careers in Political Science

Specialized Seminars

Human Security in Global Context
Politics of Global South
Climate Change & Global Politics
Migration & International Politics
